FOOD FOR THOUGHT

Greetings from beautiful Bellingham.

Phil and I took a road trip recently. Included in our travels was a visit to Knott's Berry Farm, Buena Park, CA to see the latest in merchandise and talk with the people there to learn what new and exciting things will become available. They're gearing up for their "Big Face" promotion. Various products, including T-shirts, caps and patches will hold the likeness of either Charlie Brown, Snoopy, Woodstock, Linus, Sally or Lucy - showing their face. Each of them, yes, including Lucy, wears a big smile. I can assure you Knott's is doing its level best to get some good products for us.

Another great visit with Susan Jensen, also in Southern California. I mentioned years back that Susan's mother, Jean Jensen, got Susan started with the Peanuts collecting bug back when Susan was just a little girl. Mom and dad, too, seemed smitten with Snoopy. You should see the treasury of items they bought for their daughter. All her items are mint in their original boxes.

I had last visited Susan about eight years ago - her collection was fabulous then, but it doesn't even begin to touch where it is now. Let me put it this way, Susan's collection is another "Wonder of the World." You have to see it to believe it and even then, you won't believe it. Thanks, Susan and husband Charlie (what a supportive spouse) for a great evening.

After visiting Las Vegas we headed north to see what was happening at Number One Snoopy Place. All the folks there are well and doing great.

Of course, no one had to push me to visit Snoopy's Gallery & Gift. Exciting things are happening there. For those of us old-time collectors, do you remember when we had to jump hoops to obtain items from Japan? Well, jump no more because Snoopy's Gallery & Gift Shop is carrying some pretty wonderful items. We tell you more about them in New Business, but it was certainly nice to FINALLY see quality items from overseas that we could FINALLY buy here and not be hassled with heavy shipping and custom charges. So, hip hip hooray for Gallery Manager Jim Doe for seeing to it that we have access to these things.

How many of you are going to attend the East Coast Collector's Gathering? It should be a whale of a time. Chuck Macy and his committee have been working to make sure YOU have a great time. It will be a real circus atmosphere with games and prizes, a big swap. So, bring a smile, plenty of money (I really didn't need to remind you, did I) and come have fun times with your fellow Peanuts fans and collectors.

NEW BUSINESS

WHITMAN'S

Whitman's has proven to be a real contender for the hearts of Peanuts fans and collectors by constantly coming up with new PVCs and products to go along with their candy. Their "Second Series" set of five new PVCs and stickers will soon become available. This transportation series consists of boat, car, firetruck, plane and scooter. Also available are bags of "Snoopy Treats" and we're living testament to just how good these snack size bars are. Hmmmmm....caramel and peanuts or caramel and granola covered in milk chocolate. Be still my heart! There are two different package covers. Each little bar is wrapped in a foil with a Peanuts character on it.

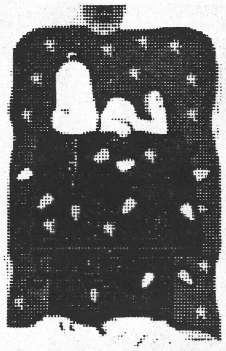
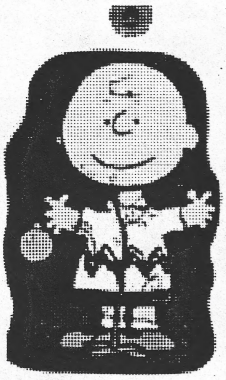
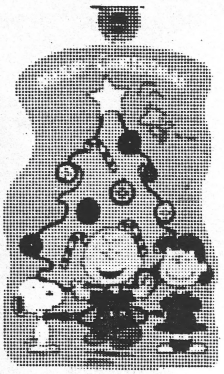
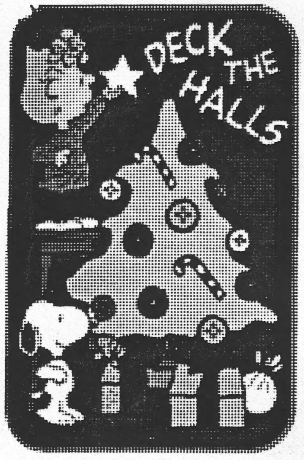
IMPACT PLASTICS

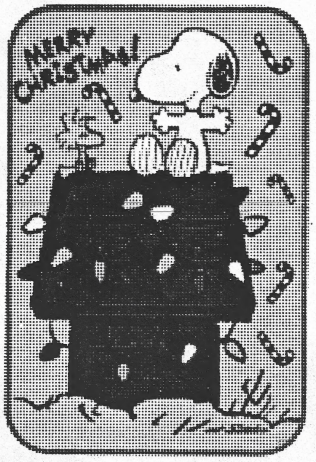
Be it Suncatchers (Row 1); or 6" x 10" "Clings" (Row 2); or 35" High Yard Art (Row 3), Impact Plastics has just the design to brighten your Christmas. Pictured below is just a sampling of what will be offered.



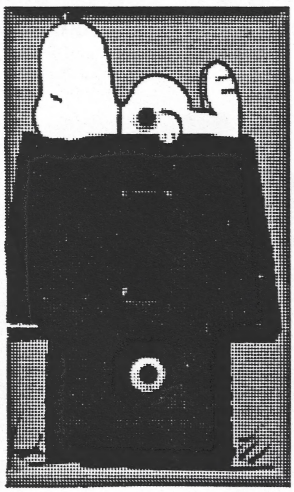


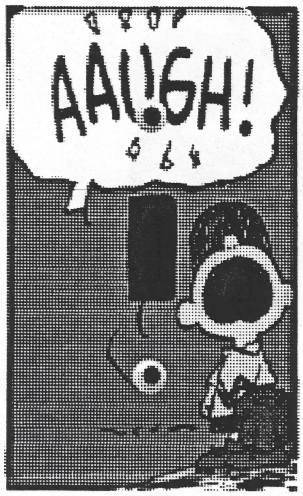




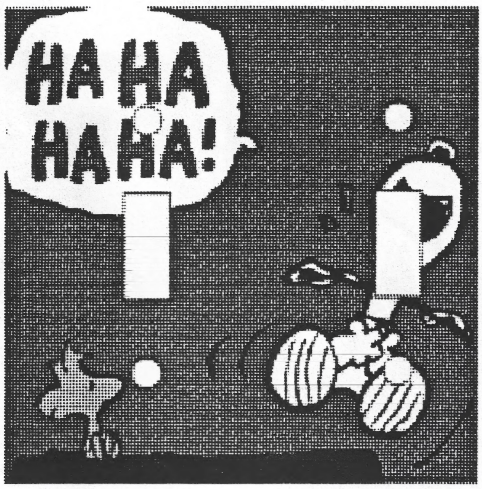


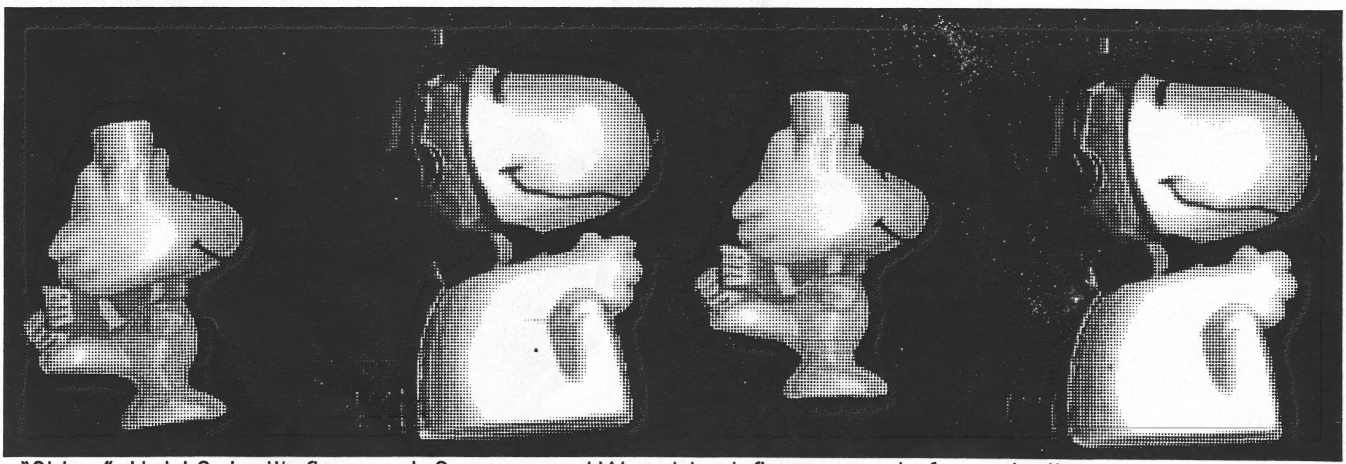
PRIMAL LITE





A new licensee shedding some light on things is PRIMAL LITE. Their three switchplate designs are pictured. "String" lights with Snoopy and Woodstock are also shown and are perfect for decorating patios, etc. Look for their nightlight design which will be out soon as will their string of Snoopy Halloween lights. Is it October yet?????





"String" Light Set with five each Snoopy and Woodstock figures made from plastic.

SANTA'S BEST

NEWS about YOU!!!

Phil Gold writes, "Jill and I are expecting our first child June 28th. I guess buying the Snoopy child's quilt at the last Beaglefest paid off." Hugs and kisses to two of the sweetest people in the world. We will anxiously await photos of your new Gold nugget!

With loving hearts, Nathan and Christy Shive welcomed the birth of daughter Magdalene Ruthann, who entered the world on May 5, 1998 weighing in a 8 lbs., 7 ounces and 21.5 inches in length.

From Jennifer Gittins (Annandale, VA), "I am proud to announce that my husband Tom and I have a new baby - - a son named Kyle, born on December 3, 1997!" Jennifer also reports that the Internet site, amazon.com has a very extensive listing of Peanuts books. They are sold at a discount and there's no tax, only a very small shipping charge. Just search on "Charles Schulz," and it will bring up the list of his books. They will even look for out of print books, and will notify you when new books come out.

Even though they live "down under," Lisa and Marc Ridey have nothing to be "down" about. They're awaiting their second child in September. These world travellers just returned from an extensive trip to Hong Kong and France. Oui Oui!!

Rei Kobayashi and husband Ron are also on the list of expectant parents. Rei writes, I'm going to have a baby girl (pretty sure according to ultrasound) this fall. I think my two and a-half year-old son is ready for the baby. They are going to be like Charlie and Sally.

Lastly, we want to report that Yvonne Magner - a Peanuts fan if ever there was one - suffered a stroke recently. A card sure would make her feel at least a little better. Please send cards and greetings to Yvonne Magner, 2079 Bailey Rd., Cuyahoga Falls, OH 44221-3415. And, thanks to Norma Truax who let us know, GET WELL YVONNE!!!

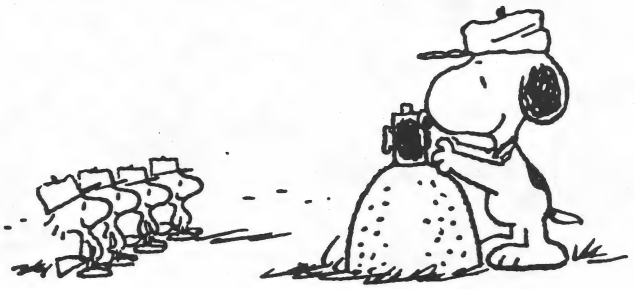
PICTURE THIS



The December 1997 issue of the French magazine, JURA, featured an article on Peanuts Collector Club member, NICOLE MARTINHEM. Many of you met Nicole for the first time at our recent Beaglefest in Santa Rosa. She is the person who said Beaglefest was "heaven on earth" and how glad she was to make her first visit to the U.S. to see her idol, Charles M. Schulz.

As you can see, Nicole has an entire room devoted to her passion of Peanuts. Wouldn't it be fun to visit her and see all the neat things we can't see more clearly in this photo! The reporter who interviewed Nicole describes her collection this way, "In Snoopy's room there is a bed with a duvet bearing the effigy of Snoopy, a rocking Snoopy, plush dolls, pens, band aids, cellotape, a waffle-maker, biscuit cutters, a car circuit, umbrellas, dining sets, a box of paints, thermos bottles, pin buttons, pogs, mugs, cards, writing paper, a butter dish, jigsaw puzzles, trash cans, masks, clothes, baby bottles, bibelots, shoelace tighteners, salt and pepper sets, etc.... We stop here as this inventory could fill a full issue of JURA Magazine."

Aside from her fabulous collection, Nicole is such a great person - full of fun, laughter and intelligence. You might say we're partial because she has become a very dear friend. So, greetings to you Nicole and thanks for sending in a copy of the magazine.

This little trick or treater is COURTNEY LEANN LESLEY, daughter of DERHEA LESLEY, Libert, SC. As Snoopy himself would think, "What a Cutie!" Bet she came home with tons of candy.

PVC LISTING by MARK CHROWL

Tireless in his search for the complete Peanuts PVC listing, Mark Chrowl has been researching these little figures for about three years. He's been kind enough to share the results with us. Mark is looking forward to compiling THE definitive list of PVCs, so if you have additional information, please contact him - his address is at the end of the listing.

AAUGH!

by DERRICK BANG

Of all the running jokes with which poor ol' Charlie Brown has been associated, none has a richer history -- nor a longer one -- than his attempts to kick the football.

The fourth quarter of each year brings Halloween, Thanksgiving, Christmas and Lucy's latest clever little ruse to persuade Charlie Brown to try one more time ... and her equally creative excuse for yet another failure.

With just a few exceptions, these Sunday strips have appeared every September or October since the strip hit its stride in the late 1950s. That's a lot of decades, and a lot of excuses ... which probably explains why Schulz skipped a few years, here and there. Can we blame him for not having come up with a new scheme every year???

But how did it all begin?

Believe it or not, with Violet, rather than Lucy.

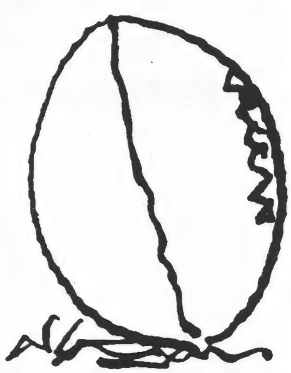
Yep, Charlie Brown's very first failed kick took place when Violet held the ball for him, in the 11/14/51 daily strip. Clearly worried that he might accidentally kick her hand, she pulls away at the last second while saying, "I can't go through with it!"

Disbelievers can find this strip reprinted in PEANUTS.

Lucy's involvement began with an as-yet unreprinted Sunday strip: 11/16/52. This was shortly after Lucy had been introduced, when she still looked (and was) several years younger than Charlie Brown. Aside from that, all the classic elements were in place ... and, as she pulled the football away at the last second, she explained, "I was afraid your shoes might be dirty."

But this concept did not become a regular, annual feature until 11/16/56, by which time Lucy had "grown" and become Charlie Brown's peer. Beginning with this strip, and nearly every year since, we've been treated to yet another wonderful reason for Charlie Brown's failure.

What follows is a dated list of these strips, along with the reason for Chuck's flat-on-his back disgrace. Unless otherwise indicated, the speaker is always Lucy.



"I'll give you a million dollars (to try again)." (12/16/56 -- Needless to say, she didn't)

"I'm a changed person ... isn't this a face you can trust?" (9/22/57)

"I give you my bonded word." (9/21/58)

"You have to learn to be trusting..." (10/4/59)

"The odds now are really in your favor!!" (10/16/60)

This time, Chuck himself pulls back at the last moment, expecting to catch Lucy in the act. This prompts her to say, "Don't you trust anyone any more?" He then tries for real, with predictable results. (9/10/61)

Charlie Brown works himself into this old loop: "This time she knows I know she knows...." (9/30/62)

"A woman's handshake is not legally binding." (9/8/63)

"Peculiar thing about this document ... it was never notarized." (10/4/64)

(Lucy seems to be dozing.) "We fanatics are light sleepers, Charlie Brown." (10/17/65)

The ball is jerked away by a chance muscle spasm ... a "ten-billion-to-one" muscle spasm. (9/25/66)

Lucy promises a surprise: The results are the same, but then she says, "Would you like to see how that looked on instant replay?" (10/1/67)

"Look at the innocence in my eyes." (9/29/68)

(Lucy cries over his lack of faith.) "Never listen to a woman's tears, Charlie Brown." (9/28/69)

"How long, O Lord?" Charlie Brown wails, flat on his back. "How long? All your life, Charlie Brown ... all your life." (10/11/70)

"This year's football was pulled away from you through the courtesy of women's lib." (9/26/71)

He tries to hedge his bets by seeking advice at Lucy's psychiatric booth, but... "Unfortunately, Charlie Brown, your average psychiatrist knows very little about kicking footballs." (10/8/72)

Lucy beguiles him with a riddle: "What are the three things in life that are certain?" "Death and taxes," he muses, running, "and..." (11/11/73)

She shows him a theater-style program that guarantees success, but..."In every program, Charlie Brown, there are always a few last-minute changes." (10/13/74)

She accuses him of mistrusting all women, including his mother. "I'm not your mother, Charlie Brown." (10/19/75)

She tells him she's going to pull it away, but he seems not to hear her. "Men never really listen to what women are saying, do they?" (9/12/76)

"Just watch my eyes." (But she wears sunglasses.) (10/9/77)

She gives him a banana before he begins his run, which initially puzzles him. "Bananas are high in potassium, Charlie Brown, which promotes healing of muscles." (10/1/78)

In 1979, Charlie Brown winds up in the hospital for surgery. In a fit of desperation, Lucy promises not to pull the football away the next time, if only he'll get better. Well, he obviously gets better, and all the neighborhood kids await the results. This multi-week "novelette" climaxes in the 8/2/79 daily strip, when she doesn't pull the ball away ... but Charlie Brown misses and kicks her arm instead!

By the following year, though, Lucy is up to her usual tricks: "To every thing there is a season ... and a time to pull away the football." (11/16/80)

"Again, Charlie Brown ... and again, and again and again." (11/29/81)

She mutters vaguely about symbolism, but still pulls the ball away. "Somehow, I've missed the symbolism," he says. "You also missed the ball, Charlie Brown," she replies. (10/10/82)

What seems something of a climax: Charlie Brown rebels and walks away, emphatically saying, "I'm just glad you're the only person in the world who thinks I'm dumb enough to fall for that trick again." But, in the last panel, he sees more footballs held by Snoopy, Woodstock, Sally, Peppermint Patty and Marcie. (10/16/83)

And, for a few years, it seemed as though that would be it. 1984 and 1985 passed without our annual treat. But the gimmick returned in 1986, although the pattern had become a bit different . Henceforth, rather than being tricked into trying to kick the ball, Charlie Brown simply approaches this annual rite of humiliation as though it were an obligation ... along the lines of attending church each Sunday. The excuses, and Lucy's remarks, become more introspective and philosophical.

"You look forward all year to a special moment, and before you know it, it's over." (10/19/86)

(She checks a pocket calendar.) "This is the only time I can really fit you in." (10/4/87)

"It's so sad ... eventually everything in life just becomes routine." (10/23/88)

"Think how the years go by, Charlie Brown ... think of the regrets you'll have if you never risk anything..." (10/1/89)

"I've been reading this book about holding the ball," she insists, in an early panel. But, then... "I wrote the book, Charlie Brown." (9/29/91)

"I've discovered," Sally comments, as she watches this annual ritual, "that loves makes us do strange things." "So does stupidity," her brother explains, wanting her to understand the distinction. (11/11/92)

Lucy proudly displays a new ball, but... "It suddenly occurred to me that if I let you kick it, it wouldn't be new anymore..." (10/3/93)

"How often do you think you can fool someone with the same trick?" Sally demands, watching her brother walk outside. "Pretty often, huh?" she says, a few panels later. (10/16/94)

"If she pulls the ball away," Charlie Brown promises, I'll sue." He's followed in the final panel by Snoopy in his Joe Attorney outfit ... and, in an unexpected development, we don't see him miss! (Neither do we see him succeed.) (10/29/95)

"Symbolism, Charlie Brown! The ball! The desire! The triumph! It's all there!" (10/20/96)

"People change ... times change ... you can feel it in the air." (9/21/97)

THE NEW ZEALAND CONNECTION

Hello Beagle Hunters,

May there be a beagle or a Peanuts product at the end of your rainbow!

Well, the saga of the chase for my own pot of beagle gold that I wrote about last time still continues. Hunting for any type of treasure is never easy - just ask Indiana Jones! I have rung and rung this gentleman, trying to get the Pelham puppet, and left messages at his partner's work. She takes my number and assures me she possesses it. The excuse this time was that they'd moved and where it was before they moved, so how is now going to be any different? I'd like to know! They may get sick of me ringing and will find these elusive Snoopys just to shut me up.

However, our beloved beagle, in all shapes, sizes and forms continues to trickle in from all quarters. A friend of mine cleared out her daughters' toy box and gave me a bag full of Peanuts soft toys. She said her daughters have too many toys and knew the Peanuts characters would have a good home with me. Even two little pairs of eyes looking up at her, and the girls asking, "Mummy, where are you taking those?" did not soften the resolve to have a clean out. At least they're safe with me.

Our "$1$2$3" Dollar Stores continue to churn out little stationary bits and pieces. Just recently I bought a letter pack with six pieces of paper and matching envelopes for $2.00. There were two creme-colored papers with Snoopy and Woodstock and cousins on top of his kennel and blue paper with Snoopy holding his supper dish and Charlie Brown saying, "Just wait 'til I finish this chapter, okay?" As if I can imagine Snoopy playing dead from hunger. My Marcie and Pepper do this (for new members, they're my dogs). "Pepper" is short for Peppermint Patty). If I tell them to wait, I get a paw on my arm or a tap, tap, tap with a paw or Marcie will jump on my knee - you try reading with 20 kg. of dog on your knee!

Anyway, I digress. In my travels into town I saw a Snoopy figurine in a Joe Cool pose in a domed case. On closer inspection, I saw it also had a watch wound around the base. The watch was separate but the figurine and watch ensemble were $89.95. It was in a shop called "Pop Culture" and they had a lot of Trekky paraphanlia...Disney stuff, Barbies, Princess Di collector dolls - all sorts of other collectibles but only one Snoopy item. Not good, I thought.

I recently acquired the ultimate in Snoopy - apart from the only registration plates in New Zealand. I got a Snoopy tattoo. I always thought about it, but was with a friend in town one weekend and just made inquiries. I would have walked away or not even gone in if I was by myself, but this little voice in my ear, in the shape of my friend, said, "You may as well get it done now. He's not busy and if you think about it, you won't get it done." That was okay by me. However I got it done. It's a well-done outline of Snoopy on my shoulder and he sits there like my little guardian angel. I've had mixed reactions but anyone who knows me usually says, "Yes, well, it makes sense!" When I told the tattooist why I wanted it, he said, "you have got a problem, haven't you?"

On that note, by the time you read this, my summer would have flown by and my winter will be walking (a Peanuts book title).

New Zealand has had a fabulous summer this year. Long days of beautiful weather, hot, but breezy. Popular resorts have been very busy and those beaches have taken a beating. However, the waves crash on empty sand now and wash it clean. The beach creatures are recovering from the shock of so many humans, and can live in peace again - till next summer.

I hope your summer, wherever you are, is as good.

COLLECTOR POINTERS
MARK AFFELDT

Hello fellow Club members. My name is Mark Affeldt and I am a relentless collector. I collect sports cards, non-sports cards, comic books, coins, Peanuts memorabilia (or course) and I even have two antique cars. Over the years I have learned a few things which I wish to share with you. Hopefully some of these ideas will help you in your search for those elusive Peanuts treasures.

First, I suggest going to every garage sale, flea market, toy and/or antique show and antique mall that you can. Each has its own pros and cons. At garage sales and flea markets, you may find almost anything and the prices are usually dirt cheap, but get there early as the good buys go fast. Also you may have to look at a lot of junk before finding anything good. Be patient. At the toy/antique shows the selection is generally very good. The down side is that the prices are mostly at or way above fair market value. Lastly the antique malls. These business ordinarily cater to the more expensive antiques. If an item is found the price tag may surprise you. As they say, there are always exceptions.

Recently, my wife Sabrina and I stopped at an upscale antique mall. Hidden among the pricy artifacts I spotted an absolutely mint yellow metal Peanuts lunchbox. The price....$20.00 SOLD! What a find. By the way, there was a rusty and dented one in the next aisle for $65.00.

Secondly, when you visit any of these places, it is a good idea if you wear something that identifies your love of Peanuts. A shirt or hat will do. Personally, I wear a chain with Snoopy and Woodstock charms on it. Upon seeing them I have had many individuals offer me items they did not have out or have with them at the time. I scored a metal enameled earring holder and a trophy for $5.00 this way.

Thirdly, tell everyone you can that you are a Peanuts collector. Tell your relatives, friends, neighbors, co-workers and anyone else who will listen. By doing this you will now have many many sets of eyes looking for you. When they see a Peanuts item they will immediately think of you. Believe me, it works. I purchased the entire Christmas plate collection, the first Christmas music box, the 30th Anniversary music box and many more items from the neighbor of a co-worker.

Lastly, a few words of advice. Knowledge is power. Buy some catalogs, read your newsletters and know your product. Always look under tables, in boxes and on the bottom shelves of display cases. And, finally, always remember that no matter how high the price, there is absolutely nothing you cannot live without.

Good luck and good hunting.

PEANUTS PEOPLE PAGES

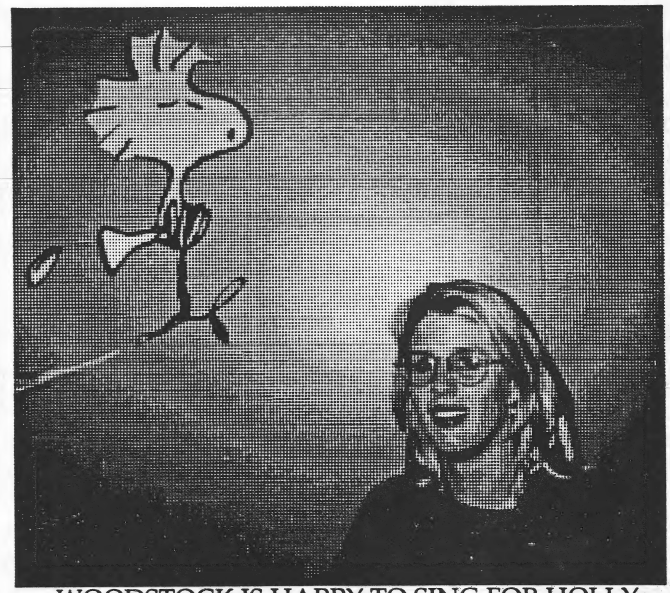
By: JENNIFER PRYSTASZ

Hello people and hello spring and summer! The greatest time of the year is now upon us - annual garage sale season, outdoor flea markets, swap meets galore and finally warm weather (although all of that definitely won't apply to everyone) But winter is behind us for another year and the glorious colours of fall are still a season or two away. Here at Peanuts People Pages, its the pick of the crop - or at the very least, a bumper crop of great letters to share this time around. So get comfortable and read on.

Our first letter comes to us from Holly McCormack of Des Plaines, Illinois and she writes us this:

"I've been in the Peanuts Collector Club for a year now and it sure has been fun. Although I think I am younger than many collectors (I'm 28), I believe I started out the same way. I have toys that I have hung on to since childhood, but Snoopy has always been my favorite.

I never knew about the Club until I was exploring the Internet and stumbled on the web page - I was in 7th heaven! I would never have known about so much new merchandise without the Collector Club and while its great for me, its bad for the pocket book!! 1997 was a year of transition for me and a year of stress with two moves and losing a job. As crazy as it may seem, Snoopy and company was a bright point and almost a refuge from all the anxiety.



WOODSTOCK IS HAPPY TO SING FOR HOLLY McCORMACK.

I had a lot of PCC firsts this year - my first trip to Camp Snoopy in Minneapolis (which was almost overwhelming with all the stuff to buy) and my first Peanuts swap meet in Louisville, Kentucky in October. It was great to meet "others like me"! I can't wait for the East Coast Meet this year.

We attended an exhibit at the Museum of Science & Industry in Chicago. The exhibit was basically in 3 parts: first an entire room of plush Snoopy & Belle's displaying pint sized fashions from designers including Guess? and Fendi; then another room continuously running Peanuts cartoons; and finally a third room filled with animation cells, strips, artwork and relics from the Peanuts connection with the Space program. I had a chance to introduce my boyfriend to some "Snoopy magic". As we would go through the different exhibit, we kept ending up back at the Peanuts room and he thought I had an internal homing device. Unfortunately, there weren't any T-shirts or merchandise for the exhibit, but they did have some ornaments.

Thank you to all the PCC members who have made me feel so welcome in the club. I look forward to meeting even more in 1998!"

And thank you Holly for writing us. Snoopy and friends are definitely a refuge for a lot of us, and like you, they have been since childhood. We look forward to meeting you at the East Coast Meet and many others - pocketbook look out!!!!!

Next up is Darlene "Dusty" Thomas from Virginia, Minnesota and she, like a lot of us, recently had an article written about her in the local newspaper. Lets see what she has to say:

"My Peanuts collection was recently featured in our local newspaper, and I think I overwhelmed the reporter! She said I was as enthusiastic at the end of the interview as I had been at the beginning - we had talked for hours and I must have talked a mile a minute.

One nice surprise resulting from this article was a random phone call that I received from a retired RN who had read my story. She lived in a garage apartment and had happened to come across 3 bobbing head Peanuts dolls - Charlie Brown, Snoopy & Lucy. She did not want to sell them mind you, but wanted to GIVE THEM to me as she knew they'd be going to a good home! She told me how, as a new nurse starting out, she ended up calling the pediatrician she worked for "Charlie Brown" and he called her "Lucy". One year a local art supply store had a Snoopy Santa on display for $20, which was a lot of money at the time. She would visit the store often, saying hello to Snoopy. All the clerks got to know her as that "Snoopy Lady". About a week before Christmas, she went as she always did to that store. This time Snoopy was gone! She inquired who had bought it, but the clerks only knew that it had been some gentleman customer. Her heart was heavy that day with regret that she had not bought it herself. On Christmas day, she entered her apartment and there at her kitchen table was the Snoopy Santa she had admired. Her Charlie Brown doctor friend had secretly bought it for her as a Christmas present.

DARLENE 'DUSTY' THOMAS POSES IN HER PEANUTS ROOM. HEY DUSTY, WHO'S THAT ROUND-HEAD KID WE SEE YOU WITH???

Isn't that a lovely story? She went on to say that they are both retired now and still sign correspondences as "Love, Charlie Brown" and "Love, Lucy". We talked more about our favorite characters, strips, et cetera. I have not met this woman yet, but feel as though I've gained a new friend."

Thank you so much for sharing that wonderful story with us. It's heart warming to think that out there somewhere are two people who are using Peanuts as a way to express their fondness of one another. Although the article on Dusty is too long to quote in its entirety, one quote I'd like to share with you is as follows: "Thomas was a 7 year old when her brother received a Hungerford Charlie Brown figure for his birthday from their grandmother. That began her passion for the group of cartoon characters. Over the years she tried to talk him out of the figure. "I didn't pressure him too much because I knew he wanted to keep it since it had been a gift from grandma" Thomas said. She attended her first Beaglefest convention 2 years ago in Minneapolis. She found a duplicate of the Hungerford figure and scooped it up, wandered around oblivious of the other items displayed, continuing to hug her prize. "That was the start of my collection" Thomas said." Passions must start somewhere I guess and its nice that yours has continued through the years - thanks to your brother.....or, your grandma.....Anyway, thanks for the letter.

Our next letter comes from one of the nicest ladies I have had the pleasure to meet. The first time I saw her, she was dressed as Uncle Sam Snoopy, proudly waving the flag and whipping the 4th of July Beaglefest crowd into a frenzy! Now, a lot of you must know who I mean - yep, its none other than Norma Truax from Ohio, and she is truly a Peanuts Person in the very best sense of the word. Via e-mail, Norma shares the following with us:

"I want to share my love for Snoopy and the Peanuts Gang with all you Beagle lovers out there. I have 3 sons and when they were young in the 50s and 60s I bought Snoopy toys for them. They were played with every day and believe it or not, two of the Peanut Plush Puppets and a Snoopy squeeze trapeze toy survived.

About the same time, my mother worked at the Saalfield Publishing Co., so we had many coloring books. But as kids are kids, they were colored in and thrown away. AAAUUUUGGG! (many regrets) Little did I know that some day they would be so highly collectible.

Years passed, then in the mid 70s, we opened a Bath Boutique and went to New York City to buy for the shop. One time, low and behold, when wondering around the gift expo part, I ran upon a little tree filled with the 3-D ceramic Christmas ornaments (the first two sets were on the tree). I HAD TO HAVE THEM!!!!!! That's what started my addiction to collecting Snoopy and the Peanuts Gang. One year alone, I had 434 ornaments and small plush on the tree. It was so heavy that my husband, Gene, had to wire it up!

My first love is the Christmas ornaments and NO, I don't have them all. How I wish that I did! Its the hunt that's fun. I'm still looking for more ornaments, musical bells, and other old ceramic pieces, and in doing so, you meet so many very nice people along the way that are willing to help with information or answer questions.

My license plate is PEANUTS and I've had it since last August when Ohio went to seven letters. Since all the Snoopy and numbers were gone, I had to concede and now I'm really happy I did because no one else can have it. HA HA HA HA!!

I joined the Peanuts Collector Club shortly after the first Beaglefest and I have enjoyed going to the swap meets everywhere I can. I hope to see you all around sometime, and if you want to e-mail me, please do so at NTru4Pnuts@aol.com"

Thank you so much for writing us Norma. You are a wonderfully, crazy, inspirational person and my "people collection" is happier since you've joined its ranks. Hope to see you soon!!

We go all the way to England to say hello to our next writer, Cheryl Ambrose, who sent us this:

"Hi, my name is Cheryl and I am a new member. I really enjoyed the first issue of 1998.

I have loved Peanuts since I was little. My first Snoopy was also my first toy when I was a baby. He has a burgundy T-shirt with "Puppy Love" written on it in yellow. He is much cherished part of my life and has never left me. He is always a source of comfort when I'm low.

It is only over the past 2-3 years that I have gone back to collecting Peanuts memorabilia. It is one of my favorite hobbies, but it is hard to find good Peanuts collectibles. In Britain, we have Car Boot Sales, where people fill their cars with unwanted goods. The sales are held outside in fields on the weekends. This is where I have had my best finds.

I particularly like collecting banks. My favorite is a metal fireman Snoopy. I would love to have some information on any other banks, especially if there is any other character banks like Charlie Brown, Linus or Lucy.

I would love to hear from any other members from around the world who would like to share their words of wisdom in the world of collecting Peanuts collectibles especially banks, or just for a chat."

Welcome Cheryl - keep on reading the newsletter, there are bound to be a few banks for sale in the classifieds that would interest you. If anyone would like to reach Cheryl, please write to her at: 8 Cressex Rd, High Wycombe, Bucks, HP12 4TY ENGLAND.

Maria Baran is from Oak Park, Illinois and she has an interesting collection of "handles". Curious? Read on:

"Hi, I just love reading about all the other Peanuts fans. My name is Maria and I have been a Snoopy fan for as long as I can remember. I just recently got serious about collecting. My house has Snoopy stuff all over, not a ton of stuff like some of the readers, but its a start!

My e-mail address is Snoopypaw, my ICQ nickname is Snewpea, and my license plate is DASYHL5. (I ran into someone who claimed to be a Snoopy fan and didn't even know what Daisy Hill stood for!!) I have a Snoopy beanie on the dash board and a Snoopy and Woodstock hanging from a dog chain on the rearview mirror. My biggest Snoopy is a back seat passenger.

Next month I will be graduating from nursing school and of course, the theme is Snoopy. I thought about giving away Snoopy presents, but then no one else shares the love of Snoopy I have and I would hate to see them thrown away or unappreciated. So I opted for syringe style pens!"

Thanks for your letter Maria. Great license plate too! For those new members who don't know, we are collecting license plates and do a complete listing here every so often. So if you have a great vanity plate, please drop me a note so I can include your "handle" in our next update. Congratulations on your graduation Maria.

Our next letter is from Lyn Jarkovsky who hails from New Providence, NJ. She has been a member since 1995, but a collector since 1975 when she was 5 years old!!! She assures us that she reads her newsletter from front to back as soon as she gets it. Lets hear what else Lyn has to say:

I would like to take this time to let you know a little about myself. I have been teaching kindergarten for 3 years and have Snoopy posters all around my classroom. The children know how much I love Snoopy. They bring me the cartoons from the newspaper and bring me Snoopy gifts (ornaments, PVC Snoopy's from the Whitman's samplers, Snoopy decorative lights et cetera.) I think we may have more Peanuts fans than we think here in New Jersey!!

One last special thing to tell you. When you have a class of 20 or more 5 years olds, I find myself asking them to quiet down often. And instead of saying SSSHHHHHHH all the time, I just say one simple word to get all the children to stop and look at me. SNOOPY!"

Well Lyn, we need more teachers like you. Its my firm belief that we should be pointing the children of tomorrow in the right direction at our earliest opportunity - and that means towards Peanuts!!! I myself give Snoopy presents to each and every newborn I know! Keep up the good work.

Patty Abel from Dale City, VA is new to the Peanuts Collector Club and just received her very first newsletter. According to her, it was a very enjoyable read! Well, it seems as if you have something in common with our last writer already and many others I'm sure. What else does Patty have to say? Read on:

"Peanuts has been a favorite of mine since the Christmas and Halloween specials of the early years (64/65?) I was in the first grade then. Peanuts was not featured in the daily paper my parents subscribed to, so I read the reprints in Scholastic Books. I remember owning the recipe book (the one with the flammable recipe for Lucy's lemon lollipops) and still have the Viewmaster reels somewhere. My lunch box from the fifth grade is still under the sink at my mom's house (Snoopy's dog house, yellow). My most precious item was the Snoopy "Skediddler" I got for Christmas that year. What happened to it I don't know, but I had 2 younger sisters, so you can just about guess!

It seems to me Peanuts has always been a scarce collectible in Northern VA. In 1984 I received a stitchery picture of Linus, Charlie Brown and Snoopy snuggled under a patchwork quilt. It was a framed, finished picture given as a gift for the upcoming birth of my second child. I found a few crib items at yard sales and before Justin was born, he was well on his way to a fine collection. He is now thirteen and has kept the collection fresh and growing (with help from mom!) That is our general collection - all characters, any items.

About 5 years ago, I began to specialize. It began with an off-hand comment while serving ice cream at a family gathering. As I scooped the last of the English Toffee chip into my bowl (after the kids, before the men!), I quoted Sally from the Christmas special "All I want is what I have coming. All I want is my fair share!" Everyone was silent, then they roared with laughter. That statement has been my battle cry ever since! With two teenage sons, one almost teenage son, a husband and a home business, three dogs and volunteer work, most times it is definitely spoken in jest. BUT ANYWAY, I search high and low for Sally items, old and new. I have socks, a pendant, the Hallmark ornament, the squeak toy and a red tin with a window (what came in the latter I do not know) I would love to have a Sally watch and a gaudy Rhinestone pin. Will anyone ever make one?

This year we decorated our Christmas tree exclusively in Peanuts. Mostly they were "Whitman's" Snoopy's. But I found a few others here and there. I'm just starting to collect the Hallmark series and bought an incomplete "Red" set (CB's Christmas) at a flea market. Now I'm having trouble finding CB & Snoopy to complete it. Is this typical?

And finally, I met a club member who sent me the info to get in touch with this club and such a nice bunch of folks. So thank you to Ed and his wife from Shipman, VA!"

Terrific letter Patty. I recently found an old poster at my parents house that I had made when I was 13 - it was of Lucy and it said "If you can't be right, be wrong at the top of your voice" That was my battle cry when I was younger. Isn't it fun to remember when you started collecting and know that nestled under the sink, or hidden away in a drawer somewhere is a reminder of your youth? The scary part is (for some of us at least) that those days were some 30 or 40 years ago and yet the obsession lives on!!! We're glad you finally found us Patty.

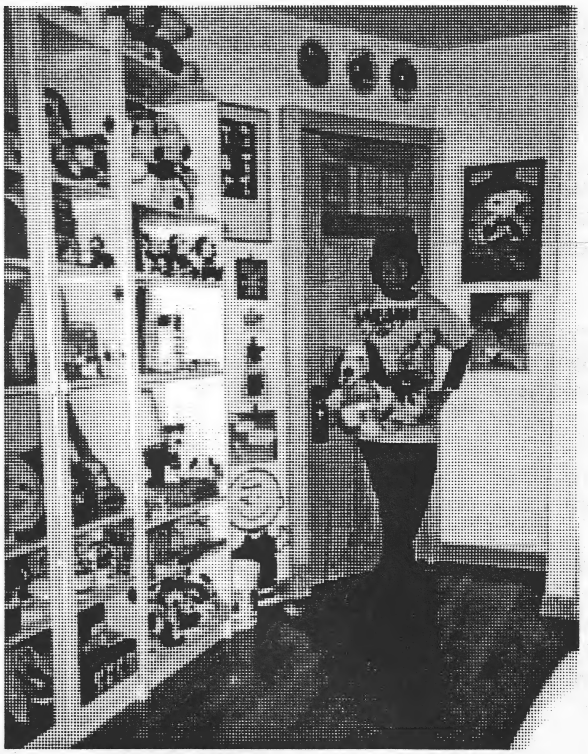
Our last letter is from Maureen Smith-Tullio of Lynbrook, NY. She has been a member of the Peanuts Collector Club a little over 2 years, is 37 years young and has this to say:

"I was fortunate enough to attend "Beaglefest" for the first time last July with my husband of 1+ years, Alan. If any member has not attended a "Beaglefest", it is a must for next time! Peanuts people really are the best kind of people. The collectors market is overwhelming, but worth every penny spent!

I've loved Snoopy all my life. I believe it all started, like most, as a very young child. My dad gave me the nickname Snoopy at a very early age and the rest is history! I've been told I look like Snoopy when I imitate him dancing, pointing his nose up in the air (only my nose is considerably smaller).

Some Peanuts items I have had a long time, some were gifts, some relatively new and the rest were purchased at Beaglefest. I have just finished a Snoopy Room in my house! For well over 1 + years all my collectibles were in boxes until I saved enough money to buy the shelves I wanted to display them in. My husband Alan has been very supportive of my "hobby" because he is also a collector. He collects W.W.I. items so he understands the collector mentality. Every Peanuts collector should be able to have a room to display their treasures! It took me many years to finally achieve it and its a wonderful feeling.

Thanks for listening. All the best for 1998. And a special thank you goes to Debbie Sweeney of the PCC for making my curtains."



MEET MAUREEN SMITH-TULLIO!!

Thanks for sharing that with us Maureen. I can definitely relate to having all your collectibles in boxes - mine have been packed away since last year when we moved. Fortunately I have detailed labels on each box so I can sneak a peek at anything I get desperately lonely for! And you've hit the nail on the head (for me anyway) - Peanuts People really are the best kind of people!!!!!

Anyway, that's it for this time out. Hope you enjoyed the great collection of letters we had. Every time I think about throwing in the towel on Peanuts People Pages, I get swamped with letters as I did for the last two newsletters. So it seems that you enjoy reading about each other. I'm glad. Each and every one of us has a story to tell and I'm glad Andrea has given us a forum in which to do so. But the quest is now on for more letters for the next newsletter. So, sharpen up those crayons or sit down at your computer, but get your letter to me as soon as you can. Long or short, we'd love to hear from you about your particular passion for Peanuts!

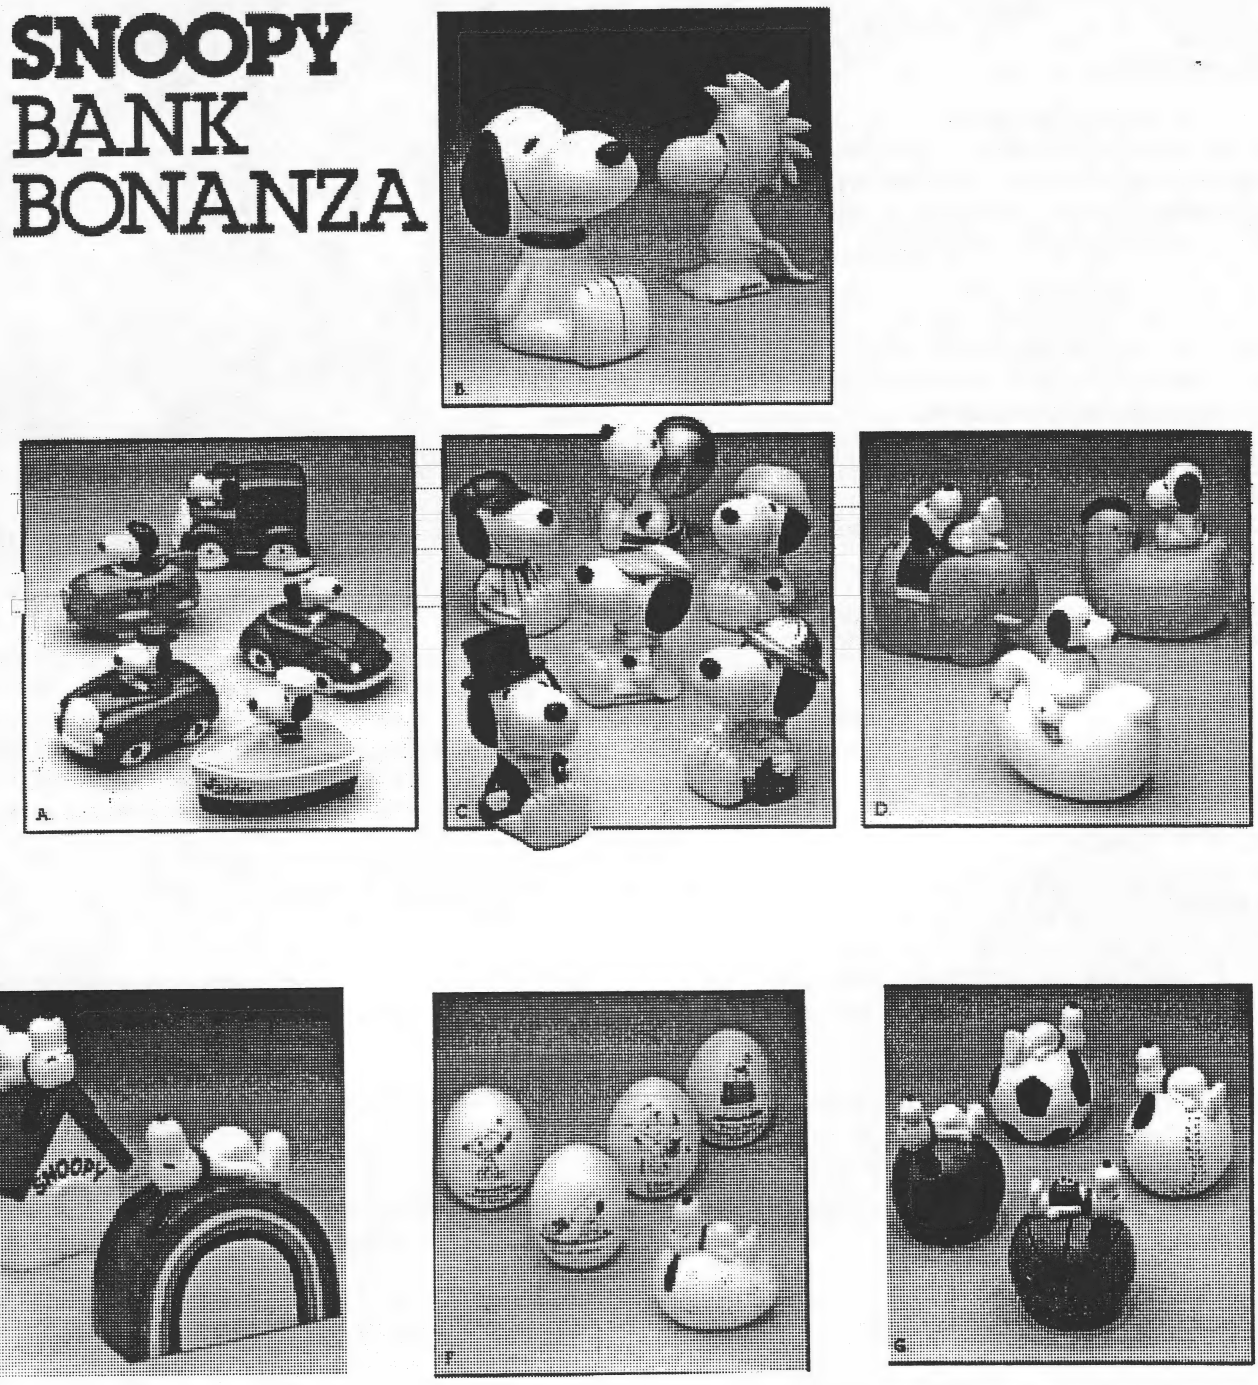
A BLAST FROM THE PAST

Determined Productions 1979 catalog boasted many bank series which are pictured here. Original prices were $3.00 for the ceramic egg banks (bottom row, center) to $5.50 for the ceramic 6" Snoopy "Happy" bank and Woodstock dime bank (top row). The highly prized "animal" series (middle row, right) went for $3.50 ea. originally.



GLENDA DAVIS ATTENDS AWARD GALA

Greetings, fellow club members,

Andrea mentioned in the last newsletter that I would be giving you a report in this issue on an exciting event that occurred in the San Francisco Bay Area this past February which my husband, Tony, and I were fortunate enough to attend. So here's the scoop!

We all know that Friday the 13th generally has a reputation for being unlucky, but Friday, February 13th, 1998 was anything but an unlucky day for me. I had the privilege and pleasure of representing my company, American Stores Properties, Inc. at the Cartoon Art Museum's "First Annual Fog City Fest and Charles M. Schulz Awards Ceremony" in San Francisco.

The gala black tie and masqued ball was held at the Miyako Hotel to honor Charles M. Schulz (no introduction necessary); Chuck Jones, legendary Warner Brothers animator and director; and John Lasseter, creator of the computer-animated film, "Toy Story", for their contributions to the world of cartoon art and animation. The event was also a fund raising effort to benefit childrens' programs at the Cartoon Art Museum. Chairman of the Fog City Fest and Vice Chair of the Board of Trustees, Ron Sommer; Charlie of the Board of Trustees, Steve Morger; Museum Director, Paullet Barnes; and other members of the Museum's Board of Trustees provided a wonderful evening of entertainment, dining, music and dancing as well as a silent auction. This was topped off by the presentation of the first annual "Sparky" Award to the three honored recipients.

The award itself, named in honor of Charles M. Schulz, is a beautifully crafted statuette depicting a cast bronze Snoopy leaning against an inkwell and holding a fountain pen. The nib of the pen rests at the end of Charles Schulz' signature which is incised into the bronze base, all of which is then mounted onto a highly polished black marble base. It was designed and sculpted by Stan Pawlowski (Ski Sculptures). Stan was also given the distinct honor of presenting the very first award to Charles Schulz himself. John Lasseter was on hand to accept his award, and Chuck Jones' award was accepted in his absence by his daughter, Linda.

Stan Pawlowski of Ski Sculptures (Long Beach, CA) presents the award he created to Charles M. Schulz.

Sparky and Jeannie Schulz, looking elegant, graciously mingled with all the guests and charmed everyone of them. The event was to have been hosted by the Honorable Mayor of San Francisco, Willie Brown, but unfortunately there was a fire at City Hall (seriously!) and he couldn't make it. San Francisco Supervisor, Gavin Newsome co-hosted the event with cartoonist, Phil Frank. Among others in attendance were cartoonists Morrie Turner and Mel Lazarus, and cartoonists's agent and historian, Mark Cohen.

Many items were donated for the silent auction, including several pieces of original comic strip art (sorry, no Peanuts). Toward the end of the evening, there was a special voice bidding for a beautiful silver medallion depicting the Peanuts gang which was created and donated by Stan Pawlowski. Some lucky person (John Lasseter) grabbed it for a mere $750! There was live music, balloons to pop for prizes, caricaturists to draw our silly faces, delicious nibbles, and the nicest group of people you could hope to meet.

The Carton Art Museum is one of only four institutions in the United States dedicated to preserving and showcasing cartoon art. Proceeds from the Fog City Fest will benefit the Museum's childrens programs, including tours classes, contests and the annual Cartoon Art Appreciation Week. It was great to participate in such a worthwhile endeavor and at the same time enjoy the presence of Sparky and his fellow cartoonists. The folks at the Cartoon Art Museum really know how to throw at party! This was a "Peanuts lover's dream of an evening" and I will cherish the memory.

I've never attempted to hide my admiration and appreciation for Determined Productions, the San Francisco, California based company whose fearless leader, Connie Boucher, started it all with a hope and a dream in 1960. It was then that she approached Charles M. Schulz with an idea for a calendar. The calendar took off with heavy sales and the rest is an American fairy-tale story with lots of hard work and innovation to back it up.

Dolls are the number one collectible in the United States. Determined produced many dolls for the Peanuts family, under their own name and by other well-known doll manufacturers such as Knickerbocker or Ideal. The dolls pictured above are known as PLAYFIGURE dolls made from plastic and jointed, which allows for posing each of the characters. The dolls produced in this early 1970 series were Snoopy, Charlie Brown and Lucy.

Each doll came in a colorful box. On the reverse of the box, the outfits available for that doll were pictured along with the two missing dolls, in case you wanted a complete set. Here I go again, but to find any of these dolls mint in the box is a bit of heaven right here on earth. Snoopy comes without any clothing. Charlie Brown wears a yellow shirt with red zigzag, blue pants and brown shoes. Lucy wears a red dress and her favorite saddle shoes. Notice the lovely smile on Lucy's face.....Schroeder must have called her!

Four similar outfits were available for each doll (pictured on the following pages): baseball; doctor or nurse; hockey and surfing. Finding these outfits in or out of the box is not an easy task, so if they come your way and you're the least bit interested, I'd say.....grab 'em!

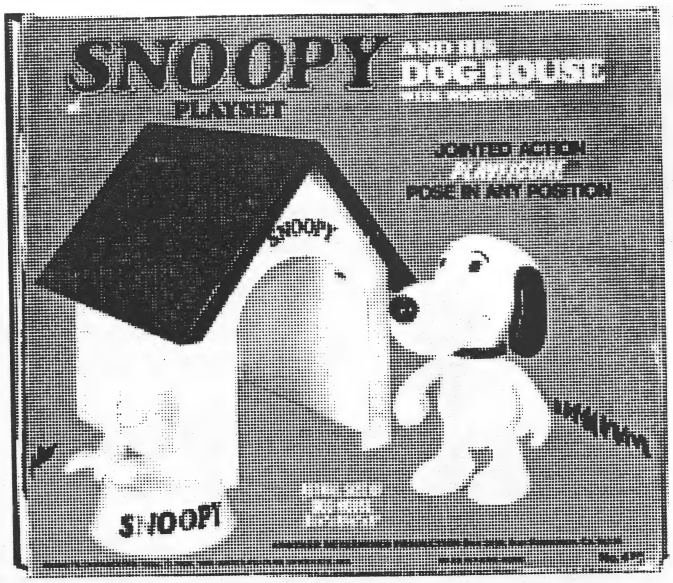
The signature doll set and the most desirable in this series is the DELUXE PEANUTS PLAYSET which consists of the clothed figures with Lucy's psychiatric booth and stool. It is item #575 and in mint condition the value is $225-$320. This boxed set is one of the premier Peanuts doll collectibles (not pictured).



SNOOPY AND HIS DOG HOUSE WITH WOODSTOCK PLAYSET #476 by Determined Productions MIB $55-$70

The Snoopy doll was used as the primary focus of other playsets such as the SNOOPY CAMPING SET (Determined #900). A 12-piece playset consisting of Snoopy, hat, T-shirt, shorts, camping boots, binoculars, back pack, pup tent, log, camp fire, coffee pot and mug (pictured below). This toy, mint in its original box, is another toy not so easily attained and can carry a price tag of $75-$130 MIB.

Hello my fellow Beagle Buddies!...A warm beagle greeting to all from CANADA!

Wow!! I have a lot of beautiful products new to Beaglemania that I want to show you this time, so I'll get right to it.

But first, you know I just can't let an issue go by without a photo update of our little sweetheart, Jessica, so here's a photo of her at 15 & 1/2 months, donning a pair of "Snoopy shades" and a "Snoopy sun hat" made out of the Daisy Hill puppy material I sell!

P.S. Happy Grandparents Day to all you wonderful Grandparents on September 13!!

P.S.S. I'm planning on going to the East Coast Collector's Weekend in July, so if you're going too, I'll be looking forward to meeting everyone! ☺

Beagle Hugs & Wet Nose Kisses,Bren

PLEASE KEEP IN MIND THAT ALMOST ALL OTHER PRODUCTS PREVIOUSLY OFFERED BY BEAGLEMANIA, ARE STILL AVAILABLE. Due to advertising costs, I can't picture everything all the time, so I usually just try to picture any new times I'm carrying. If you have any questions or would like a photo of any other items I have, please just let me know as I will be more than glad to help you. ☺

We're having a baby and would like to find the following items: a Snoopy crib mobile by Quiltex; a light blue Snoopy plush doll and a pink Snoopy plush doll (Applause?); 10" Olaf, Belle and Andy plush dolls from the Daisy Hill Puppies by Determined; fabric wall hangings by Silo; Peanuts border for a nursery, and does anyone have the Official Price Guide to Peanuts Collectibles? Phil Gold, 1653 Morada Pl., Altadena, CA 91001 (626) 296-2848 afternoon and evening only please.

I'm looking for 2 out of the 4 old Halloween Applause PVCs. I'm missing Snoopy jumping out of a pumpkin and Snoopy dressed as a devil holding a pumpkin. Also looking for Snoopy Astronaut silver coin. I know it has a 70s look to it. Have about 5 or 6 extra Comics Spain PVCs - looking to TRADE!!! Need flag bearers, soccer players, new Schliech PVCs (Snoopy on telephone, golfer Snoopy and more); archer Snoopy and a bunch of unpainted PVCs. Lisa or Ester at (714) 995-5441.

CLASSIFIED

Hello fellow collectors....MIKE GRENDA here. Do you hate those knicks in Snoopy's ears and nose on your ceramics? Well, for minimum charge, those can be painted again and waterproofed and soap proofed without losing that Snoopy shine. Color matching will soon be provided for other colors besides black. If not satisfied, refunds available. For questions or pricing, send to P.O. Box 328, Riverside, IL 60546. Do not send items there. Send ceramics to Mike Grenda, 212 Black Rd., Riverside, IL 60546 (708) 492-9325.

Dear Peanuts Collectors,
It's going to be another KURT ADLER Christmas! So many new items, so many decisions! Don't miss Snoopy as a Nutcracker! I have made further price reductions on some items. I need to make room for Christmas. Reduced items end with a 9. I have always tried very hard to make my customers happy with low prices and friendly service and I really do appreciate your business. If you find a lower price through a competitor in the newsletter, please let me know and I will try to match the price. I sometimes can't compete with large Discount Store prices, but I will if I can. Please just ask! Thank you for your orders and HAPPY COLLECTING!
